

COFFEE

VERSE 1

I can taste it on your lips,
I can smell it in the morning air.
While I'm lying next to you,
The world is passing by without a care.

Before it used to taste so bitter,
But with you it tasted sweet.
Lying in this bed together,
Just you & me.

PRE-CHORUS 1

We were supposed to get married,
With a few dogs, maybe a baby.
But then you said goodbye,
And I still don't know why.

CHORUS 1

So no more coffee when the morning comes,
And I won't love you till the day is done.
Cuz when I smell it yea I think of you,
And all that we've been through.

So no more coffee to awake my soul,
No I don't want to feel it anymore,
Cuz when I smell it yea I think of you,
And all that we've been through.

VERSE 2

Now I lay here, eyes wide.
I see the sun, but I don't feel it's warmth.
My bodies fighting to survive.
This house a shell for what once was love.

PRE-CHORUS 2

We were supposed to get married,
With a few dogs, maybe a baby.
But then you said goodbye,
And I still don't know why.

CHORUS 2

So no more coffee when the morning comes,
And I won't love you till the day is done.
Cuz when I smell it yea I think of you,
And all that we've been through.

So no more coffee to awake my soul,
No I don't want to feel it anymore,
Cuz when I smell it yea I think of you,
And all that we've been through.

BRIDGE

No, we will never get married.
All your lies became my fantasies.
And when you said goodbye,
You took the blindfold off my eyes.

CHORUS 3

So no more coffee when the morning comes,
And I won't love you till the day is done.
Cuz when I smell it yea I think of you,
And all that we've been through.

So no more coffee to awake my soul,
No I don't want to feel it anymore,
Cuz when I smell it yea I think of you,
And all that we've been through.

OUTRO

Because you said goodbye,
And I still don't know why.
